Three Moody Measures Get Rough Handling

NEW BILL WOULD MAKE ALL PROHIBITION VIOLATORS EQUAL

Senate Passes Measure Classing First Offenders With hardened Criminals

ALLOWS DISCRIMINATION IN SLIGHT VIOLATIONS

Echoes of Reed-Borah Debate On Question As Idahoan Is Attacked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, (P)—First offenders, along with hardened violators of the prohibition law, would be liable to a maximum penalty of a fine of $10,000 or five years in prison, or both under a bill passed by the senate today and sent to the house.

By a vote of 65 to 13 the senate approved the measure introduced by Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, after several days of debate, celebrated by a clash between Borah of Idaho and Reed of Missouri.

In raising the penalty so as to include first offenders, the senate softened the blow by approving a provision in the bill declaring it to be the sense of the senate that judges, when imposing sentences should discriminate between casual or slight violations.

This proviso reads: "It is the intent of congress that the court in imposing sentence hereunder, should discriminate between casual or slight violations and so-called regular bootlegging or attempts to commercialize violations of the law."

Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, said he was "convinced that modification of the Volstead act is necessary."

"Sooner or later," he said, "we will adopt some form of government control. I look forward with great hope to the nationwide inquiry by a commission which will make an exhaustive investigation of the whole subject."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, (P)—Echoes of the Reed-Borah prohibition debate sounded in the senate today as Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, described prohibition conditions in Borah's state of Idaho as "shocking."

Borah, who defended prohibition in an hour's speech yesterday in reply to an attack by Reed of Missouri, said smilingly silent as Bruce read a newspaper article whose headline said:

"Idaho drowns dry problem in moonshine."

Canadian liquor, Bruce declared, flowed freely into Idaho and other border states.

"I don't know why so much liquor is being produced in Canada," he asserted, "not only to satisfy the needs of American tourists but to supply the large amounts that are exported into the United States."

He praised the Quebec liquor system as one founded on true Jeffersonian principles of democracy.

As debate proceeded on the Jones bill to increase prohibition penalties, Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, contended that the majority of members of congress are "sober men." When one is seen intoxicated, he said, it is considered an exception.

50 Injured When Fire Breaks Out in N. Y. Sub Train

NEW YORK, Feb. 19, (P)—Fifty persons were injured, four men and two women seriously, and 200 passengers were affected by smoke and fumes, tonight when fire broke out in the first car of a New Jersey-bound Hudson tube train in Manhattan.

The fire was discovered and the train halted about 1,000 feet from the Christopher street station. Police reserves and fire apparatus were called and the engine was removed from the smoke filled train. Police said there were approximately 1,000 persons on the train.

THREE CONVICTED OF ROBBING MAIL CAR AT FT. WORTH

Woman Defendant and Wife of Convicted Clerk Hysterical; Two Men Calm

PORT WORTH, Feb. 19, (P)—Federal court was thrown into an uproar today after Judge Wilson passed sentence on Travis Wilson, Mealing E. Pruitt and Mrs. Otis Bridges, and delivered a lecture to the three defendants who had been found guilty in connection with the $53,000 mail robbery of a Texas and Pacific railroad train.

Mrs. Pruitt, wife of the convicted mail clerk who was on duty in the car when the robbery occurred on November 9, became hysterical upon hearing Judge Wilson pronounce sentence on her husband of five years in the penitentiary.

She was taken from the courtroom weeping and striking, and her cries could be heard long after attendants had taken her to another part of the building.

Mrs. Bridges, sentenced to 18 months, cried openly when her sentence was pronounced. Pruitt and Wilson, whose terms were made 5 years, took their sentences with stoicism, and neither lost control of his feelings.

President Coolidge has not yet arrived at a decision as to his appointment after retirement from office, although he has been approached by several persons with proposals that he write syndicated articles for newspapers.

The president regards that field as a fine one but hesitates to bind himself by the urgency of regular production. However, he may write occasional articles dealing with his experiences and observations in public office.

Push Search for California Child

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19, (P)—While Northern California centered its attention on the search for 4-year old Doris Smith-Murphy missing since her disappearance from a playground here last Friday, a Berkeley barber started the police on a false trail that led to Galt, Cal.

A new mystery letter bearing on the envelope the words, "This is the last time I'll tell you she is all right," and signed "K. K." was received by Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Murphy, the child's foster father and mother, today.

Captain of Detective Matheson said the contents could not be divulged because the writer of the letter threatened serious harm to the little girl if the letter was made public.

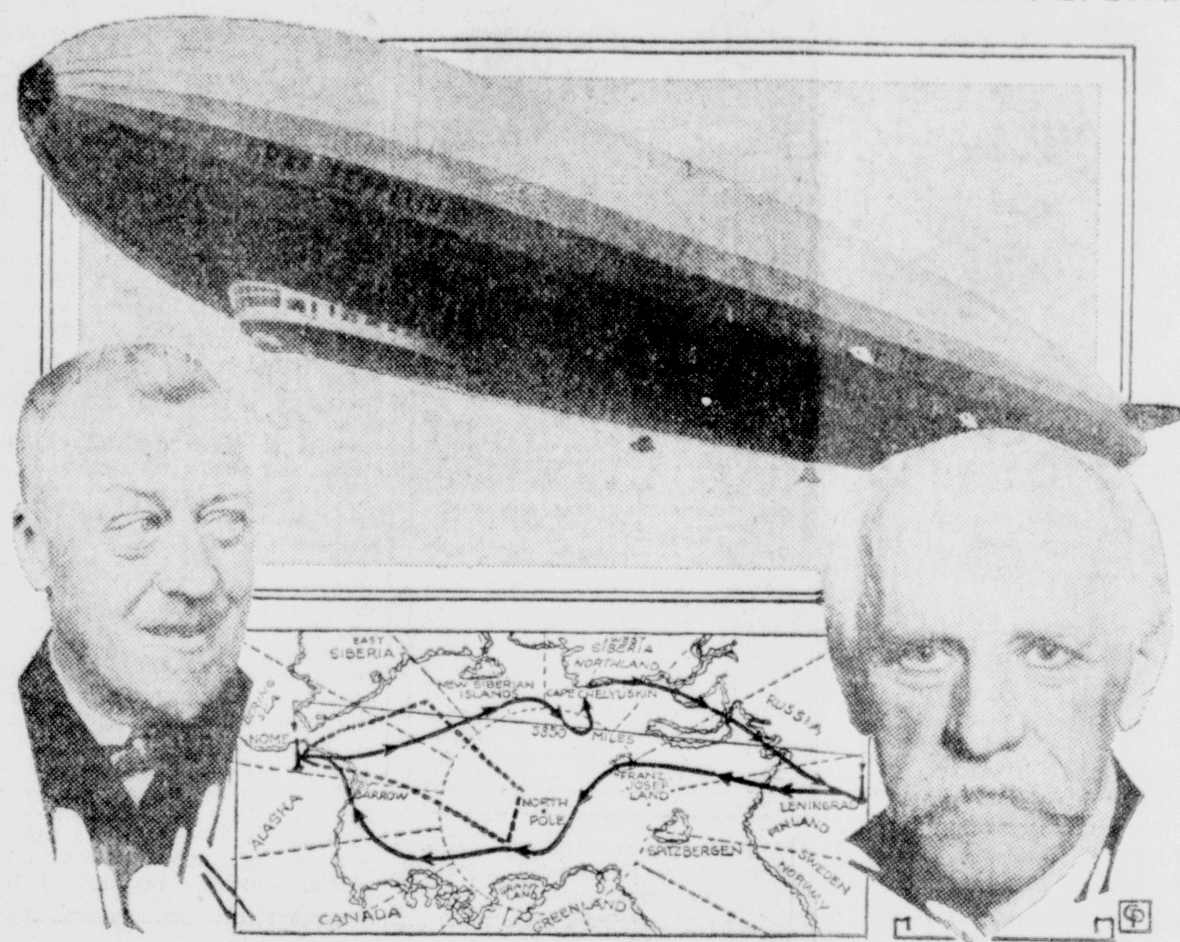

EVIDENCE OF FRAUD IN OIL CASE INSUFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, (P)—Reporting to the senate lands committee on his inquiry into leases in the Salt Creek, Wyoming, oil fields, Thomas Sterling, special investigator, declared today that although he believed there appeared to have been fraudulent practices there seemed to be insufficient evidence on which to base charges.

The report dealt with present claims in the oil fields and expressed Sterling's opinion that "the evidence produced and examined does not warrant the conclusion that any of the leases are invalid."

DEL RIO, Feb. 19, (P)—Pardon of Mexican political refugees now in the United States, and freedom to return to Mexico was asked of President of Mexico in a request addressed to him by those attending a political meeting in Villa Ahuna, Mexico, last night. PROPOSED COURSE OF GRAF ZEPPELIN'S POLAR FLIGHT

Plans for the proposed flight of the Graf Zeppelin from Leningrad to Nome, Alaska, a distance of some 6,200 kilometers, are rapidly shaping themselves as Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, head of the expedition, continues on his lecture tour of the United States, designed to stir up interest in the project. Above, a closeup of the giant ship, and below, Dr. Hugo Eckener, its commander, who probably will be technical leader of the airship, map of the flight, and, right, a recent portrait of Dr. Nansen. The map shows the probable course which the ship will fly and dotted line indicates explorations which probably will be made from the base at Nome.

ANOTHER FREAK SNOW IN PARIS

Ground Covered By Icy Mantle of White; Temperature Drops Rapidly

Another visitation of snow, sleet, "hominny snow"—or whatever it was that blanketed Paris in an icy mantle nearly two weeks—was experienced in Paris Tuesday. The precipitation was accompanied by a rapid slump in temperature which registered minimum at 19 degrees. The fall was heavy enough to cover the ground but was not nearly so heavy as the previous one.

In mid-afternoon the sun came out and caused melting of the snow but lowering temperatures froze the ooze in the streets and on sidewalks and turned both into solid stretches of ice. Footing was insecure everywhere. No injuries from falls were reported, however.

Only little decline in mercury readings were apparent during the night and with indications of clearing skies, much more moderate weather was in prospect for today.

The snow and sleet fall was reported general over North Texas in Associated Press dispatches.

Complete Jury In Pruitt Case

DALLAS, Feb. 19, (P)—The jury for the trial of William (Dagger) Pruitt was completed here today. Pruitt is being tried for robbery with firearms.

The Kur Klux Klan issue was thrown into sharp relief while the jury was being chosen as every juror was asked if he was a Klansman. Members of the organization were challenged by the defense attorney who said Pruitt's mother had been dragged from her bed, flogged and ordered by Klansmen to leave Dallas.

SINCLAIR APPEAL IS FILED TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, (P)—The appeal of Harry F. Sinclair from the jail sentence of three months and fine of $500 imposed on him by the supreme court of the District of Columbia for contempt of the senate was received today by the supreme court for its consideration.

Owen J. Roberts, for the government, and George P. Hoover for the defense, concluded arguments in the case with respective assertions that the questions asked, Sinclair were and were not pertinent.

Not only were the questions relevant in themselves, but they were preliminary to other matters the committee desired and had the right to ask, Roberts said, and were necessary to proper consideration for legislative purposes.

Declaring pertinency was an "essential ingredient of this crime," Hoover said the questions must show this element. It is not enough that they have a bearing on "any possible fantastic legislation congress might engage in," he declared.

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 19, (P)—Fire which started in a gas stove caused $20,000 damage here today in the City Drive store.

Makes $100 By Telling Judge Atwell Truth

DALLAS, Feb. 19, (P)—E. L. Phillips, a carpenter, made $100 in Judge William H. Atwell's federal district court here today.

"Judge, I'm not going to lie to you," Phillips said. "I was going to a hotel to deliver the liquor, but I am through with it now and I'm working every day at my trade."

"Well, you have made $100 since you have been standing there, and I am glad to have met you," Judge Atwell replied. "You pay the marshal $50. I had considered making your fine $100 greater."

DELAY ACTION ON BRIDGE MEASURE

Opposition To Oklahoma Highway Commission Causes Halt In Plans

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 19, (P)—Opposition to the present highway commission today caused postponement of the consideration of house bill 241, providing for acquisition or construction of interstate toll bridges over Red river.

After R. H. Stanley, Choctaw county, had objected to committing the present highway commissioners to spend the money under terms of the measure, the house recommitted the bill to the roads and highways committee.

A similar measure already has been adopted in Texas with a view to joining Oklahoma and the federal government in taking over the bridges.

A delegation from the Texas legislature, recently visited the roads and highways committee of this state and expressed its willingness to go more than half way in purchasing the bridges.

The bill proposed in the house authorizes the state highway department to expend money from the construction and maintenance fund to acquire or construct and maintain the structures.

Congress would be memorialized to enact legislation which would permit federal aid to be given the two states.

James Nance, speaker of the house, informed the members that one-half of the expense of the bridges would be borne by the federal government, one-fourth by Texas and one-fourth by Oklahoma if the legislation planned was adopted.

RICHARDS' MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL DENIED
DALLAS, Feb. 19, (P)—Ben C. Richards, Jr., convicted of forgery in connection with an election bet that resulted in the killing of Orville Matthews, was released on a $2,000 bond here today a few minutes after his motion for a new trial had been overruled and his attorney had filed notice of appeal. The bond was signed by Ben C. Richards, Sr., former mayor of Waco, and H. J. Emmons, prominent Odd Fellow and a witness for the defense in the trial.

The appeal was based chiefly on allegations that the court erred in not granting a change of venue. It also stated that the indictment upon which Richards was tried was faulty.

ONE DEAD AFTER PLANE CRASHES

Fatal Mishap Occurs Near Iraan; Radio Announcer Seriously Injured

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 19, (P)—Fred Sorrell of Springfield, Mo., died today in a McCamey hospital of injuries received when his airplane crashed at Iraan, Pecos county, early in the day.

Roy and Elmer Cox of Iraan were passengers when the ship crashed but they received only minor injuries, from which they are expected to recover.

The plane had reached an altitude of 75 feet when the motor stalled and the ship's nose rammed into the ground.

K. W. K. H. Announcer Hurt
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 19, (P)—Steedman Gunning, announcer for radio station KWIL of Shreveport, La., was perhaps fatally injured and Dan Leary, pilot of Shreveport, escaped with minor hurts today when the plane in which they had just taken off from the flying field here crashed into a house.

The plane had landed to take on fuel for a non-stop flight from here to Washington when W. K. Henderson, owner of both the plane and the radio station, is to appear before the radio commission.

Henderson had preceded the plane by rail. Officials at the field said the plane had gained an altitude of 50 feet when the motor apparently stalled.

TEN JURORS FOR MCLOSKEY TRIAL NAMED TUESDAY

Tedious Day of Examining Veniremen Lasts Until Late In Evening

ARRAY OF COUNSEL TO TRY ELECTION TRIAL

Neither Religious or Political Qualification Raised In Examinations

AUSTIN, Feb. 19, (P)—Ten of the twelve jurors for the criminal trial of Congressman-elect Augustus J. McCloskey of the 14th congressional district of Texas were selected at a court session which ran until 7 o'clock tonight.

When the interrogation of 24 veniremen exhausted the panel, there were only 25 tentatively passed as agreeable to both sides. Prosecution and defense agreed to eliminate up to ten men, each hoping that deletions would coincide in enough instances still to leave the necessary dozen jurors.

Preserving one preemptory challenge each, defense and state eliminated nine each and in no case did they choose a common name.

The court room was electrified late today when a venireman blurted out that he believed McCloskey had been persecuted. The venireman was W. L. Thompson, department manager for an Austin printing house.

"Have you an opinion?" asked Henry H. Brooks, the 23 year old district attorney of Travis county. "Yes, I have," quickly responded Thompson. "It seems to me like Judge McCloskey is being persecuted."

Thompson immediately was excused for opinion.

Only the attitude of the veniremen towards the case and the law governing the matter were gone into.

Neither political nor religious affiliation was touched upon.

McCloskey, Democrat and Catholic, was certified to have defeated Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas' only Republican member of congress, in the Nov. 6 election, after which five indictments charging McCloskey with altering returns were voted. At the time of the election McCloskey was county judge of Bexar county (San Antonio), and the returns passed through his hands.

Early Snag Struck
A snag was struck with the first venireman examined today. He was Walter Jacobson, young farmer from Brownwood had been made by the questioning until the defense found that he would refuse to consider the indictments against the congressman-elect as merely the vehicle for bringing him into court. Jacobson insisted he would have to consider the indictment itself as evidence.

The next three passed tentatively were A. R. Booth, farmer; W. E. Row, bank employee, and Jack Chiles, Jr., insurance agent.

None of them admitted intimate knowledge of the case, which was brought to this county on a change of venue.

Both McCloskey's father and son, James, the latter a student at an Austin university, were spectators today.

Array of Counsel

The interrogation of veniremen was left to local talent on the extensive staffs of prosecution and defense. That for the state was in the hands of Harry H. Brooks, district attorney for Travis county. Brooks is only 23 years old, less than two years out of college, and engaging in his first big case.

The head of the prosecution is Lamar Seligson, district attorney for Bexar county. He is only 33 years old.

It developed that Congressman-elect McCloskey and Mr. Brooks had one thing in common—they both smoked hand-rolled, brown-paper cigarettes. While the decorum and formality of the court ran along otherwise according to judicial custom with respect for the bench, smoking was permitted and the interrogation of veniremen ran along with smoke rings wreathing the heads of attorneys, defendant and spectators.

Motor Vehicle Board Proposed

AUSTIN, Feb. 19, (P)—Creation of a motor vehicle commission of three members is proposed by Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio in a bill reported favorably by committee.

The measure would take from the railroad commission and place with the new commission, the power to regulate motor busses used for transportation of passengers. Senator Williamson said he is preparing an amendment to include the highways for the transportation of freight, under terms of the proposed law.

The three members of the commission would be appointed by the governor and serve for six years, here today.

PROTEST NAMING OF OPTOMETRY BOARD MEMBER

David L. Wortsman of Dallas Subject of Debate Before Committee

AUSTIN, Feb. 19, (P)—The president and several members of the Texas Optometric association appeared before the senate committee on governor's nominations last night to protest against the appointment of D. L. Wortsman of Dallas, to the state optometry board.

Wortsman's appointment to succeed Mrs. M. W. Armstrong of Brownwood had been made by the governor and sent to the senate for ratification.

Optometrists opposing the appointment attacked Wortsman's ethical and educational qualifications and said that his alleged connection with the wholesale optometry business made him undesirable as a board member.

R. A. Terrell, chairman of the legislative committee of the Texas Optometric association, said that one of the first things he remembered of Wortsman was an advertisement saying that Wortsman was a physician and only physicians should be consulted for glasses.

He charged that the Texas board of medical examiners had taken away from Wortsman what purported to be a license issued by the board permitting him to practice medicine.

Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata called attention to the ethics endorsed by the optometrists in respect to the activities of W. W. Chamberlain during the forties. Legislators and asked the committee to decide on "their conception of ethics."

G. H. Aronsfeld of Houston, chairman of the optometry board, asserted that Wortsman was not educationally qualified to be a member of the board. He declared that the Dallas man had taken only the "limited" examination and had not qualified for a "standard" license.

Both Aronsfeld and Terrell said they were willing to resign from the board in order to bring about rejection of Wortsman.

Merle Buckner of Dallas, spoke in favor of Wortsman's appointment and read several messages endorsing his qualifications and activities and urging his confirmation.

"Why, if Wortsman was so unethical, did the optometric association make him chairman of the committee to arrange for the 1928 convention?" Buckner asked.

Albert Linz of Lins Brothers, Dallas, said that while Wortsman was head of his firm's optical department he was no longer in the wholesale business.

ROAD BOND BILL LACKS STRENGTH IN SENATE VOTE

Governor's Proposal For Prison Relocation Board Turned Down By House

HOUSE VOTES TO HAVE SCHOOL HEAD ELECTIVE

Bill Providing For Appointive Education Board Amended By Representatives

AUSTIN, Feb. 19, (P)—The Texas legislature today dealt unkindly with measures advocated by Gov. Dan Moody.

While the senate was sending to engrossment by a 16 to 11 vote the $75,000,000 resolution providing for a constitutional amendment—known as the Young-Turner-Loy bill concentrating the penitentiary system on either the Darrington or Ramsey farms.

To submit the bond issue proposal in the form of a constitutional amendment the senate must favor it by a two-thirds majority or those advocating it must pick up five more votes than they had today.

The governor in a message yesterday had indicated his preference for the Graves bill in the house or the Holbrook bill in the senate, proposing that a commission composed of the prison board, president pro tem of the senate, speaker of the house and attorney general first make a survey of conditions, the physical properties of the penitentiary and then decide on a site for centralization.

Also the educational bill jointly endorsed by Gov. Moody and S. M. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction was amended in the house to make the state superintendent elective by the voters instead of appointive. The bill provides for the appointment of a state board of education. After the amendment was adopted over strenuous objections of its sponsors, further consideration of the bill was deferred until the house could consider the penitentiary bill set as special order.

AUSTIN, Feb. 19, (P)—The senate today struck from the highway bond proposal the Love lateral roads amendment adopted yesterday.

Senator Thomas B. Love's motion to reconsider carried by a margin of three votes and the amendment was killed by the same majority, with Love voting against it.

The amendment would have permitted the authorization of the issuance of state bonds to build lateral roads.

Senator Love asserted rejection of his amendment was the only way the $75,000,000 road bond plan could be passed by the senate. He declared that two and possibly four senators would not vote for the submission of the proposed constitutional amendment with his provision included would favor it otherwise.

The Love amendment would permit the issuance of state bonds to build lateral roads.

The Dallas senator said he was convinced the senate would not give the lateral road man a "full loaf" and declared that "half a loaf" was better than none. He cited a quotation that "consistency is the virtue of fools."

"If consistency is the virtue of fools, God give us more fools," Senator Eugene Miller of Weatherford, opponent of the bond plan, exclaimed.

Senator Archie Parr of Benavides, highway bond opponent, declared that the senator from Dallas had realized he was in bad company and wanted to extricate himself from his position.

"Are you afraid of the people?" Senator DeBerry asked. "Don't you realize that if the issuance of state bonds for lateral roads is unopposed the representatives of the people won't authorize their issue?" he inquired.

DeBerry had the floor when the senate recessed for lunch.

The LOW-DOWN
By Jack Lancaster

Place: Plaza.
Film: "Alias Jimmy Valentine."
Star: William Haines.

What a treat. One of the most enjoyable and entertaining films viewed in ages is "Alias Jimmy Valentine." William Haines as the smart alecky, clever crook was never better and his voice is just as good as his pantomime. He carries the audience with him on his humorous adventures and not one dull moment is experienced during the entire showing. "Alias Jimmy Valentine" is done as only William Haines could do it and it is his best picture to date. This boy has just what it takes to go over with any fan and he dishes out entertainment that is no plus ultra.

Lionel Barrymore, as the detective always on Haines' trail, et cetera in the talking sequence and as usual shows he is a true Barrymore. Karl Dane hands the audience no small amount of laughs in his role as the pal and Lella Hyams and Tully Marshall come through splendidly. This is truly a remarkably fine cast.

This is a story of a crook, who baffles the cops at every turn and although his identity and his escapades are known, his cleverness and alibis keep him out of the law's clutches. Every safe robbery is attributed to this nimble fingered gentleman but the necessary evidence to hold him is lacking. While on the way to pull an important job he meets the girl and the reformation takes place.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" is synchronized with the finest musical accompaniment heard yet in sound pictures and such music adds greatly in the presentation of such a fine film. No talking is heard until the last two reels and the climax, with the voices, is one of the most forceful bits to be heard yet. This film contains everything one could ask for and is a type of entertainment for the whole family. Those wishing for two hours of complete and whole some enjoyment must not miss this showing.

The health committee, headed by Mrs. T. E. Below, and other members of the P. T. A. assisted in making out the cards, in duplicate.

The most defects noted were in the teeth, and while there were some chronic throat affections, a large number were due to the epidemic of colds. There were a few cases of malnutrition, very little eye trouble and several normal children.

LEGIONNAIRE DIES AT HOSPITAL HERE

Elmer E. Winn of Marion, Ind., Loses Fight Against World War Disability

Elmer E. Winn, 37, world war veteran of Marion, Ind., died here Tuesday morning at 7:05 at St. Joseph's infirmary, giving his life ten years after the Armistice, for his service to his country. His passing comes as a very real sorrow to his comrades of the American Legion and the many other friends he had made during a several weeks stay here, when he was forced to stop for medical treatment en route to a veterans' hospital in Arizona.

Funeral services will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at the Manton-Fry funeral home on Clarksville street, by the Rev. Alpha Shelton, Baptist county missionary, and members of the American Legion will attend. The body will leave at 11:30 this morning over the Frisco, for burial at Marion.

His gallant bearing in the face of his ill health, and his enthusiasm for the work of the American Legion impressed everyone who came in contact with him.

Like many another overseas veteran, he paid with his life, more than a decade after the ending of the war as the result of his disability. Serving with the 7th Field Artillery as a corporal, he was badly gassed while in France, and his lungs were affected. While on his way to the U. S. Veterans' Bureau hospital at Tucson, Ariz., late in December, he was forced to stop here for mastoid treatment, and last week underwent an operation at the infirmary for the trouble. His weakened constitution hastened his death.

Soon after his arrival in Paris, he got in touch with members of the American Legion, and attended two or three of the meetings of Winfield F. Brown post, No. 30, where he responded when asked to tell of the work in his home post at Marion, Ind., and other points where he had attended.

Legionnaires here felt a deep interest in his case and many of them visited him while he was at the hospital. His mother was notified by Commander Cothran, when his condition became serious, and she arrived Sunday morning, about 24 hours before her son's death. She has been a guest at the Cothran home during her stay here.

Mr. Winn is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Winn, a brother and a sister, all living in Marion.

Notice to Legionnaires

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at Manton-Fry Funeral Home for deceased comrade, Elmer E. Winn, of Marion, Indiana. All ex-service men are expected to attend.

GUS COTHMAN, Post Commander, Winfield F. Brown Post, American Legion.

Parents Express Thanks

Through the courtesy of The News, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Winn of Marion, Ind., wish to express their very grateful thanks to all the friends in the city for their generous service and tender care of their son, Elmer Winn, who died Tuesday morning in St. Joseph's infirmary following a brief illness.

Mrs. Winn, the mother of the deceased, arrived in the city a little more than twenty-four hours before the death of her son, and found many hands and hearts waiting to help her bear her burden and give to her, good cheer and heart. She feels gratefully indebted to every friend for each flower and for every kind word and deed for herself and son. She asks for each of you such kindness as has been shown her and prays the heavenly Father's mercy and blessing upon each and all.

Mrs. Roberts has returned from an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. Tinker at Houston.

OLD GOLD

NO. 3 OF A SERIES: As told by Tobacco Planters of the Sunny South

"Round here in the foothills of the Blue Ridge, we've been raisin' tobacco since my grandpap was a boy. We grow the makin's for all the leading cigarettes.

"Well, Suh, a few years ago an OLD GOLD man came through here and said: 'I don't want any of your sleazy ground-leaves. I don't want any of your gummy top-leaves. I only aim to buy your heart-leaves. And I'll pay the price.'

"Now every old-timer, down in his heart, knows that the top and bottom leaves may bite the throat. And he knows that the heart-leaves make the smoothest smoke.

"But when the OLD GOLD people demanded the heart-leaves, that was something new in these diggin's. That's how OLD GOLD became the throat-easy cigarette... that's where 'not a cough in a carload' came from."

LEE IS STEPHENS PARTY MUSICIAN

Georgian Has Had Varied Musical and Religious Training In His Work

Rev. Edward Powell Lee

The people of Paris will probably be interested in knowing more of the personal history of the Stephens evangelistic party, which opens a revival meeting in Paris next Sunday, so the facts have been gathered concerning the different individuals, and one will be present each morning until the roster is completed.

The Rev. Edward Powell Lee, director of music, and the first of the party to arrive on the scene, is beginning his fifth year of work with the Stephens party. He was born on a farm ten miles south of Atlanta, Georgia, "several years ago" to use his own expression. He is one of a family of thirteen children, six girls and seven boys, all of whom are accomplished singers and musicians.

Powell received his education in the schools of Atlanta, the preparatory school at Locust Grove, Mercer university, Macon, Ga., and attended the Southern Baptist Theological seminary at Louisville, Ky. After leaving the seminary he served as minister of music and educational director of churches at Selma and Birmingham, Ala., Macon, Ga., and Little Rock, Ark. Before joining Mr. Stephens he taught sacred music and evangelized at Mercer university.

During the world war he served with the U. S. C. A. forces as musical and religious director in various camps, being stationed at Camp Pike, Little Rock, at the close of the war. Among his other activities, he also counts six months with the New York City Mission society, working with the foreign population in south Manhattan. His training and experience have been varied, giving him a wealth of knowledge of people and conditions which has woven of much value in his present work.

Mr. Lee has a rich baritone voice, and really enjoys his work.

WHO CAN'T HELP?

If humanity is to be made better and civilization improved says Dr. Wiggam, there are at least four kinds of people who can't help much. First, there is the optimist, who believes that silk purses can be made out of sow's ears by deep breathing. Second, the pessimist, who, having to choose between two evils, chooses both. Third, the conservative, who believes that nothing must ever be done for the first time. Fourth, the radical, who believes that nothing must ever be done except for the first time.

Somewhere in the middle distance is a man who approaches life's problems thoughtfully, who is neither a fool nor a genius. He is not a radical or a conservative. He watches and weighs and considers and finally, when he has the facts, he is not afraid to act.

BOY WINS INTERNATIONAL FAME

TWO years ago Hilson Guier of Farmington, Kentucky was 13 years old and one of the five reasons teachers favor the five-day week.

But there came a day when he quit pushing and shoving in line, tripping the "fellows" on their way to class and other surreptitious deviltry. He was too busy thinking about a far more devilish Jersey calf for which he had spent $150 of his savings.

The agricultural agent of Calloway county had talked him into joining a dairy calf club, and it took about all his surplus energy to get the calf in training for the duties of a cow.

By the time Hilson reached high school, his calf became a senior three-year old Jersey named Proud Prince's May. There was nothing extraordinary about that, except for the fact that Hilson entered her in a 305-day production test, thereby cutting out for himself a man-sized job of weighing milk every day, studying proper feed, keeping records, and sticking to the job.

At first there was nothing to indicate that unusual results might be expected; there was no record of high production in the pedigree of Proud Prince's May; there was no certain reward. All Hilson had was confidence in his beifer.

The last day of the test dragged to a close, and the records showed 784.04 pounds of butterfat, and 12,624 pounds of milk. The American Jersey Cattle Club announced that Proud Prince's May was the highest producing Jersey in the world in her age class.

An unknown cow under the care of a lively school boy had set a new international record.

ULTRA-VIOLET LIGHT RARELY CANCELS CANCER CURE

LETTERS asking whether there is danger of ultra-violet light treatment causing cancer are flooding the offices of the medical information bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine and the Medical Society of the County of New York. They were inspired by a widespread misinterpretation of a scientific report recently issued by the information bureau.

"There are hazards," says the bureau in explanation. "In the use without medical supervision of ultra-violet radiation. The production of skin cancer is not a common one, however, the danger being rather in the possible production of burns following excessive exposure. Another question which is not yet settled is the possibility of drying up and atrophy of oil and sweat glands of the skin."

"The skin cancer seen in sailors and farmers is a disease of late life, and appears only after many years of exposure. It is unlikely to occur with ultra-violet light; but it would be unwise to expose a face with a long standing case of horny tissue, known as senile keratosis, to the action of ultra-violet light for any prolonged period."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

INVITING HIS OWN DEATH

From the Greenville Herald:

COLONEL Villareal made a speech in Villa Acuña, Mexico—just across the river from Del Rio, Texas—the other night in which he predicted that he would be the next man elected president of Mexico. Fortunately, radio facilities in Mexico are not what they are in this country, and Villareal was able to get back to Texas in safety.

But he is inviting his own destruction. It hasn't been very healthy in the past for a man to announce that he is to be a candidate for President in Mexico. The faction that happens to be in power more often than not doesn't like it and then strange things begin to happen. All of the candidates for President of Mexico last year save General Obregon were slain before date for the election rolled around. And then the General himself was slain shortly after he had been elected with no live opposition.

There are many months intervening between now and the time for Mexico's election, and Villareal had better conduct his campaign from the American side of the border.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart

CONGRESSIONAL GENIE TO CONFRONT HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The Arabian Nights fisherman who accommodatingly let a huge genie out of a bottle, only to have the big brute threaten to kill him, out of pure meanness, was lucky in having an exceptionally bone-headed genie to deal with.

As all must recall he flimflammed the poor sap into returning to his container, ostensibly to prove that a 50,000,000-gallon genie could deflate himself inside a one-quart receptacle, and then corked him up again until he'd made terms to the fisherman's everlasting financial advantage.

Fisherman Herbert Hoover has no assurance that the congressional genie will be so gullible when he pulls the stopper and the genie comes bounding out for his scheduled extra session beginning in April or thereabouts. From all indications, he is liable to develop into a darned unmanageable genie.

Everybody knows what Mr. Hoover wants congress to do at the extra session—as follows:

- 1.—Pass a farm relief bill.
- 2.—Maybe increase the tariff somewhat—not to excess—for the benefit of a very, very few industries.
- 3.—Adjourn and go home until next December.

The evidence is overwhelming that Mr. Hoover and his most trusted advisers have scrutinized every precedent in American history in the hope of hitting on some plan by which the president can end an extra session of congress when he would like to have it end.

Hardly necessary to say, none has been hit on.

A special session of congress is the easiest thing in the world for a president to start. No power on earth can stop it—until it gets ready.

This next congress—the new one, which will assemble when Mr. Hoover issues, as he must, his call for it to meet in extra session—is a good deal of an enigma.

On paper, Mr. Hoover will have nice majorities in both houses.

The hitherto recognized group of progressives will no longer hold the balance of power in the senate. No progressives lost their seats last November, but so many Democrats were beaten by Republicans that the G. O. P. "regulars" unquestionably are on top—if they all stay "regular."

In the lower house the margin is ample.

However, it all depends considerably on Mr. Hoover's own politics.

Be it remembered, during the pre-convention period his rivals complained bitterly that there was no knowing what party he really did belong to. During the campaign, as loyal Republicans, they hush, hushed with equal vigor, but that didn't mean that they had changed their minds any.

There are progressives, not of the "ultra" bloc, who believe Mr. Hoover is going to make a pretty liberal president. If he disappoints them, they may flop out of alignment with him.

Yet if he shows himself a little bit too liberal there are apt to be ultra-conservatives who will flop out of alignment with him the other way.

The Smith Democrats and the Hoover-crats also are an uncertain element—or two elements. At present they are viciously divided. Should they remain so, it is hard to tell how they will assert themselves.

The genie is difficult to psychoanalyze.

A dangerous genie for Fisherman Hoover to let out of his bottle.

Still, he must do it. He may well worry about ways and means of getting him back inside the thing. He doesn't want so rambunctious a genie loose all summer.

Who's Who—Timely Views

ALARM OVER DRUG TRAFFIC EXPRESSED

By Fiorello H. LaGuardia
Congressman from New York

IT is apparent that the use of habit-forming drugs is increasing to an alarming degree all over the country. This is especially true in large cities.

Police reports, court records and hospital statistics prove beyond doubt the alarming increase in the unlawful use of narcotics. The extent of unlawful importations of narcotics now has reached an amount to be nothing short of a national scandal.

The margin of profit in this unlawful traffic is so great the total amount reaches several million dollars every year. Taking a conservative estimate of various statements made by police departments, customs and government and state officials, the value of drugs unlawfully imported during the past months has been estimated at between $25,000,000 and $40,000,000. There is such a variance as to the estimate of the number of addicts and such discrepancy as to the extent of actual control of this traffic that an immediate curfew is imperative.

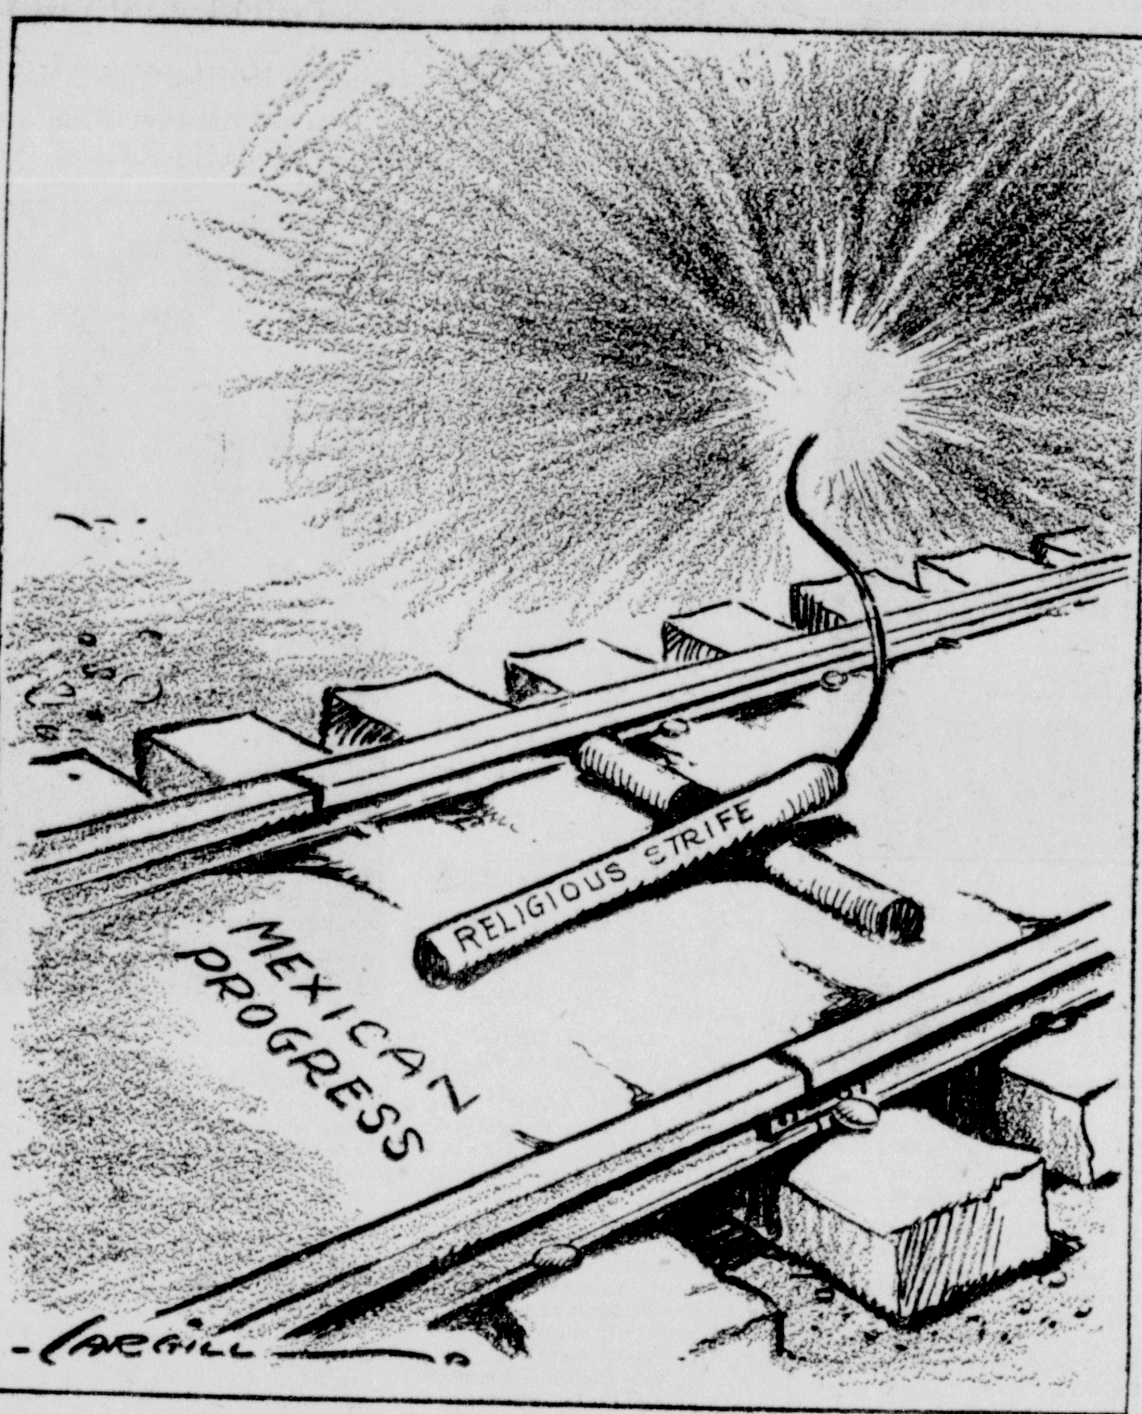

The amount of raw opium permitted to be imported has increased from 57,343 pounds in 1924 to 140,172 pounds in 1928, and it is conceded that this is only a small fraction of the amount of actual manufactured drugs unlawfully imported every year. While it is true that congress has authorized two farms for the care and treatment of drug addicts, the big constructive thing before this country today is to prevent and wipe out the unlawful traffic in narcotics and habit-forming drugs. It seems ridiculous to provide means of cure without taking drastic steps to prevent the unlawful sale of drugs responsible for creating addicts, thereby suppressing the root of the evil.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Knecks in Childhood May Cause Bow Legs and Many Other Ills

"Is there any possible method of correcting knock knees except by an operation. There is an appliance on the market which the inventor claims will force the bones of the leg back to a normal position, if worn only at night. He states it will effect the change in from two to six months."

"Are there any exercises which would help? I know several girls who would try most anything to cure their knock knees or bow legs."

"I am practicing your Tummy Ten exercises every day, and although I have always had a protruding stomach, it is actually receding more and more every day, which is more than enough reward for the few minutes I spend on them."

"The fashion of short skirts for women is not only a hygienic fashion and one worth keeping up, but it is also going to make everyone realize the importance of prevention of rickets in childhood, and the prevention of overweight and underweight."

"Knock knees and bow legs are due to rickets in childhood, and these can be prevented by the proper diet and sunshine and cod liver oil. (It not only deforms the bones of the legs, but that of the arms, head and chest. In the chest, it may cause what is known as chicken or pigeon breast, and funnel-shaped breast.) However, after the bones have their full growth and are set, there is no appliance that is going to bend them. It is only when they are in the plastic stage that they are capable of being modified, and that would be before adolescence."

"Even after early childhood, the bones are difficult to mold, and it requires a long time to do it."

"Whitman lists three types of treatment for bow legs and knock knees: The expectant, the mechanical and the operative."

"The expectant treatment includes proper diet and medication, proper posture, general massage, exercises and manipulation. The manipulation consists of forcible correction of the condition, ten minutes at a time, at least twice a day."

"The correction should not be to the point of actual pain."

"The mechanical treatment consists of properly-fitted braces. The operative treatment is as its name indicates—an operation in which the bones are put into correct shape. This is the only thing that will change bow legs or knock knees after full growth."

"You will be interested to know that in 1921, in the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled, in New York City, there were 160 patients successfully operated upon for condition of knock knees and bow legs."

"My son, 19 years old, plays a cornet three and four hours a day. He has been told that too much pressure used on the lungs would eventually cause tuberculosis."

"What do you think? He is working his way through school this way, but if it is harmful he must stop it."

"I cannot find anything in my textbooks that would point to the harmful effects on the lungs from the use of wind instruments. Mrs. H. You might see a lung specialist about this. My own idea is that it would strengthen the lungs, rather than weaken them. Seems to me most of the cornetists I have observed are pretty robust looking."

FIVE YEARS REQUIRED TO FINISH CHESS TABLE

MILLPORT, Ala. (P)—A chess table five years in the making and containing 72 varieties of wood has been completed by George L. Hathaway and is on exhibition here.

Hathaway, a war veteran, who has spent most of the past 10 years in government hospitals, traveled 25,000 miles in collecting material for his work, which he has named "The American Memorial Table."

In addition to the wood, shells from Catalina Islands, New Orleans, Atlantic City and the Great Lakes were used. Stones from Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, are included on each leg.

Wood from the giant trees of California, from "My Old Kentucky Home" at Bardonia, and from the deck of Admiral Perry's famous flagship are included in materials used. Other historic places are represented by blocks and strips from the Argonne forest, the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem and from an aid harp presented the Duke of Orleans while Louisiana was French territory.

Chapter 23.
Andy Adair came for Betty again on Tuesday night after the show, insisting that she go with him to a night club for dancing and something to eat. She enjoyed dancing with Andy and protested only feebly when he begged that they stay till the place closed at 3 o'clock. He kissed her again as he left her at her door.

Wednesday night the stage manager said: "Rehearsal at 11 tomorrow morning. Brown. Next week's stuff."

Betty was pleased, but tried not to show how much. She felt that if she acted as though she were a permanent part of the theater he would also consider her so.

When they were all gathered on the stage Thursday morning he appeared with his script in his hand.

"Comedy next week," he announced. "Brown, ever do Greek?"

"Yes." Betty was frightened, for she did not care for Greek dancing and had taken it only because it was a part of the day's work at Selkoff's.

"Can you clown it?"

"I'm afraid I don't know what you mean," she said.

"Ecceitric hoover coming here next week who clowns Greek dancing. Nut, you know. Chases fun bugs and all that. Wants a woman to work with him. She's not to know it well enough to clown it."

"Oh, yes, I can do that!" she laughed, getting his meaning.

"That's all for you. Meet him here Sunday morning at 10. Be on time, for he will likely show at 11!" He waved her off the stage, and Betty went home to practice before her mirror an exaggerated Greek dance with the hope that she might please the visiting dancer.

She was on hand before 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, more anxious than she had ever been. She was now to work as a dancing partner for a professional!

"Can you clown it?"

At exactly ten a sad-faced young man arrived on the stage and looked around. She was the only woman in sight, so he came over to her.

"I am Ted Hawkins, the dancer," said he. "You going to work for me?"

"Yes, Mr. so often. I hope I can please you."

"See me with The Stupidities! I certainly killed 'em with that show, didn't I?"

"I'm sure you did! I know you are wonderful." Betty saw he was an egotist, and tried to please him.

"In my new act I use some of the same stuff that made me famous with The Stupidities. All you have to do is just the regular Greek stuff, not too good, see? Stumble once in a while, and when you pose, do it awkwardly. Don't try to be funny, for I am the act, see? I don't want their attention distracted from my stuff."

Betty listened carefully and did her best. He was generous with her, and told her she was quite all right when she added an unusually high leap, only to fall and sit awkwardly on the floor.

They worked for two hours on the dance. When they put it on at 3 o'clock the audience laughed heartily, and they got an encore and a bow, which pleased Hawkins immensely.

"Kid, you are good!" he announced when they left the stage. "Let yourself go the next time you are on. Ad lib some stuff of your own and we will make a hit this week. I'm no crab. I know I'm good, see, and I'm a good trouper. Live and let live, that's me!"

With this awkwardly expressed encouragement, and the intoxication of applause, Betty entered into the spirit of this ridicule of the beautiful Greek dance. From time to time she introduced a few inconsistent clog steps and (sillies) to do acrobatics, which amused the audience immensely. Hawkins patted her affectionately on the back when they left the stage for the last time.

Tuesday night Betty went to dance with Andy Adair again. On Wednesday night Hawkins said to her: "Ditch the Johns tonight, Brown. I want to talk business with you."

Betty was anxious to know what he wanted, but disappointed when they reached the stage door to find Harry Ford waiting. She introduced the two men, and explained that she was to have a business talk with Mr. Hawkins. She hoped Harry would come another time.

"How about tomorrow night?" he asked. Betty said she would be glad to see him, and smiled to herself that she was again attracting to her the men she liked. The smile became a bit grim when she realized that it was her public dancing and not herself which attracted them.

Hawkins took her to a white-tiled chair-arm lunch room, ordered some simple food, and began to talk business at once.

"How would you like to go on the road as my dancing partner?" he asked.

"Why, I had not thought about it," hesitated Betty. "Tell me just what you mean."

"You know I'm too good for this four-day stuff, but vaudeville has gone broke. The movie houses have put it out of business. The only big money for a specialty is in the big reviews. I am getting only two hundred dollars a week for my act, but could get three if I had a partner. A booking agent told me so two or three days ago. If you are willing to work with me, taking the short end till you are as good as I am, I think we could team up."

"What is the short end?"

"I'd take what I am making now, two hundred, and you'd get the other hundred. This circuit is week stands and the jumps short. I got ten weeks now."

"I would like to try it," Betty had grown to like this dancer in spite of his crude way of expressing himself.

"All right," he said. "It's a go!" He reached out his hand, and they shook hands on it.

"I live right around the corner," he went on. "Let's go to my room and have a drink on it."

"But I don't drink!" laughed Betty.

"That's good! Women who drink get fat. You got to keep your shape if you are going to do bare-legged stuff. Don't start it. I don't drink a pint a month, but I want to have one on the new partnership. Come on around and take gingerale."

"But it is after twelve! I could not go to your room at this time of night."

"Why, it's a theatrical hotel, kid."

Look out for weakness after having influenza

Anybody who's had "flu" knows how weak and peepless it leaves you. Indeed the convalescent days are days when you should take particular care of yourself—not go dragging around feeling like a wet dishrag.

DURING the period of recuperation Nujol will help you. It is a real health promoter. Keeps the system functioning normally, does not allow it to get clogged up.

Physicians agree that, particularly if you've been sick, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable. Many doctors are, therefore, prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system. It regulates the system, eliminates poisons, and brings about better health.

Nujol is as harmless as pure water. Just a fine natural substance that keeps the system working at all times the way nature meant it to. Regularly. Easily. Normally.

Nujol may be given to little babies, very old folks, invalids and others who are easily upset by more drastic methods.

Let Nujol help to restore you to complete and vigorous health. Take a spoonful every night. After a trial you'll have more ambition, and energy, feel more optimistic. You'll soon look and be yourself again.

Nujol has been used for years by thousands of people, as a regular part of their health regimen. It's surprising how it straightens you out when you feel dull and heavy. Especially in winter when you don't get nearly enough exercise. Or eat enough green foods.

Getting back strength

Nujol is one sure and simple way to health. A whole bottle costs but little. Do give it a trial, won't you? It certainly can't do you any harm, and you may find it is just the thing you've been needing.

Get a bottle of Nujol today at the corner drugstore and take a spoonful every night.

(1) The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors which are inhaled.

(2) At the same time Vicks "draws out" the soreness like a poultice.

Cooper, Gober, Denison and Cunningham Officially Certified To Director Berry

Cooper high school, Gober high and Denison high will represent Delta, Fannin and Grayson counties, respectively, in the Fifth district intercollegiate league basketball tournament to be held Friday and Saturday at the Fair Park coliseum, according to announcement made late Tuesday by Athletic Director Bob Berry. Red River, Collins and Franklin counties have not yet announced their winners, said Mr. Berry, but they will be announced soon. Cunningham is to represent Lamar county. Cooper high will bring an unusually fast quintet to Paris this year as they have come through a successful season and scored an easy win over Pecan Gap, who represented the county last year. Gober high also boasts of a strong squad and this is the second successive year for this team to carry county honors. Denison defeated the fast Sherman high aggregation to win Grayson county laurels and this quintet stands a big chance of going high up in the tournament this year. Roy B. Henderson, interscholastic league director of Texas, stated in a letter to Mr. Berry that the winner of this district will meet the winner of the Texarkana district for bi-district honors the first week in March at a point to be designated later. The champions of this bi-district meet will go to the state meet the second week in March, said Mr. Berry. The tourney this year at the coliseum promises to be much faster and hotly contested than that of a year ago and only the cream of basket tossers in this district will be seen in action.

"Who's Next?" Gasps Chicago Gangland As Whole Nation Gasps At Massacre

Above, the wall of the garage on North Clark street, Chicago, against which seven men met death in Chicago's latest outbreak of gang warfare; below, a crowd outside the garage watching as the bodies of the men were removed. Inset, left to right, "Diamond Joe" Esposito, victim of a previous outbreak. "Scarface" Al Capone, beer baron; George "Bugs" Moran leader of the slain gangsters, and Hyman Weiss, one-time Chicago overlord.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Who will stop the next volley of leaden messengers of hate in Chicago's gangland war over the control of needed beer? Swift reprisal for the massacre recently of six henchmen of "Big George" Moran, north side "alky" overlord, will follow as the night day. Gangland knows it for a certainty and accepts the fact stolidly. The truce between "Scarface" Al Capone, leader of the South Side beer interests, and Moran, as if it had never been. For the moment Chicago's streets are bare of beer trucks and their drivers, beer collectors and their "musclemen" bodyguards. Even the hoodlum hangers-on are in hiding. The next move is with the Moran interests and it will be written with bullets. Just precisely what incident resulted in the killing of the six Moran followers as they stood conversing in a garage in North Clark street last Thursday is not definite, known. Police say the North sideers sought to obtain a foothold in the South Side preserves of Capone. Whatever broke the truce, which has been in effect among the two gangs for a number of months, resulted in the most wholesale slaughter since prohibition went into effect. The killings happened at noon on one of the most crowded streets in Chicago, yet no one has come forward with a satisfactory description of the perpetrators. Clark street was busily engaged in minding its own business, when suddenly a trio of machine guns began to spit their message of death. When the gaseous wisps of smoke cleared away, six men lay piled in ghastly death. In the distance a high-powered automobile roared away, containing some say three, others say four men. Gangland will find out the exact number and possibly the names. It does not particularly matter. But six men will die for the six who are already dead. Who will stop the next volley of machine-gun bullets? "Scarface" Al is in retreat. Moran is reported to have followed his example. At least, the police can find neither. The "leggers" are filling their guns, arranging for sudden business trips in other cities or staying strictly within doors. They remember Dion O'Bannon, who preceded Moran as leader of the North Side runners, and who was shot to death in his flower store a mile from the scene of the latest massacre; "Diamond Joe" Esposito, "Hyman" Weiss, "Big Tim" Murphy and a hundred others who lived by the gun and died by it. Who will stop the next volley, Capone, the needle beer overlord is reputed to have a bodyguard of five gunmen, at least one of whom is always at his side. Half a dozen times he has escaped death by a dozen times as has "Big George" Moran. The chances at this time are against either one "getting hit" forewarned as both are. The scythe of death is poised to strike. Who's next

FLOOD TERROR FOLLOWS COLD IN SOUTH EUROPE

Swollen Waters May Take As Many Lives As Recent Blizzard

LONDON, Feb. 19. (P)—Flood terrors replaced rigors of bitter cold over a large part of Europe today. It was feared that when the toll of the inundations, real and prospective, was complete, it would equal or surpass that of the cold. The Danube and tributaries swelled over their banks and forced many from their homes. Melting snow and ice caused disastrous floods in Macedonia and Thrace. Bavarian rivers overflowed, while rising temperatures in Northern Italy foreshadowed rapid swelling of rivers there. Temperatures were less extreme than they have been, but in many localities the mercury had not risen to above zero, or freezing, centigrade. Advice from the Danube district, where ice and snow have been piled six feet over the surface of the river, indicated a worse situation, possibly, there than elsewhere. The Danube and its tributaries had not only to carry off the huge load of melting ice and snow, but faced the hazard of ice dams which spread its water over wide areas before they could be broken.

Widespread havoc was reported from Thrace and Macedonia where the Struma and other rivers overflowed, sweeping away bridges and hundreds of cattle and flooding homes. A number of peasants were drowned. Part of the city of Cavalla, site of an American tobacco depot, was submerged, while Heraclea was transformed into a vast lake, with inhabitants being fed by merchants who piled their trade in boats. Jugo-Slavian and Grecian soldiers co-operated to save lives and property. Ice Barrier Growing. In Bavaria large areas were flooded by overflowing rivers, the situation adding greatly to the suffering from what was still extreme cold. Meanwhile it was reported from Stockholm that the ice barrier along the southwestern and southern coasts of Sweden was growing steadily, although once a day communication was being maintained with Denmark and Germany. Numerous steamers were still stranded, icebound, in the Baltic sound and the Cattegat. A huge snowstorm stopped all train service in Southern Sweden, and in some sections of Scania inhabitants had to dig their way out of houses through second-story windows, so deeply they were buried. Continued intense cold was predicted. Britain's hope of a thaw has not yet been realized, although the cold has greatly moderated and at present does not exceed what is often found here. Storms off the Spanish coast did serious damage to the fishing fleet. One boat was wrecked and another barely made its way into Bilbao, while all fishing at Almeria was suspended. Asturias province experienced a touch of cold, with Oviedo, Spain until now has escaped the general European cold.

Gov. Hoard's Tribute To The Dairy Cow The cow is the foster mother of the human race. From the day of the ancient Hindu to this time have the thoughts of men turned to the kindly, beneficent cow as one of the chief sustaining forces of human life. No nation or people has become civilized without her. Without her agriculture is not permanent or prosperous, people are not healthy or happy. Where the cow is kept and cared for, civilization advances, lands grow richer, homes grow better, debts grow fewer.

Starting with neolithic man in the dim vistas of the far distant past, she has been man's friend and companion down all the ages. Her effigy and that of her brother, the ox, were used to adorn the earliest coinage of the world, because "omnis pecunia pecus fundamentum"—the herd is the foundation of all wealth; and in such esteem and veneration were they held that they were worshipped as symbols of Deity in the dawn of religious consciousness of humanity.

The cow has accompanied man in all his wanderings and wanderings as he has multiplied and replenished the earth, nursing her own offspring and his also. In times of famine she has been man's preserver, his comfort and aid in times of prosperity, the hearer of his burdens and the cultivator of his fields, the breadwinner of the poor and the pride of the well-to-do. She consumes the vegetation of field, mountainside, meadow and prairie, otherwise unavailable as human food, and in the marvelous laboratory of her digestive structure converts it into the most essential, the most assimilable, the most nourishing of foods.

The dairy cow was the first animal necessary to the pioneers in the settlement of new regions of the earth; and in the complex civilization of the present day she is a vital factor of an indispensable and the only perfect food. From the dawn of history she has been associated with the con-

HUSTLING FROGS NOSE OUT RICE

Captain Brock Leads Longhorns To Victory Over Baylor FT. WORTH, Feb. 13.—A hustling Texas Christian University quintet added another conference victory to their 1928 collection by noosing out Rice Institute here tonight 27 to 26 in a great game. A superior defense that held in critical moments furnished the margin of victory for the Frogs.

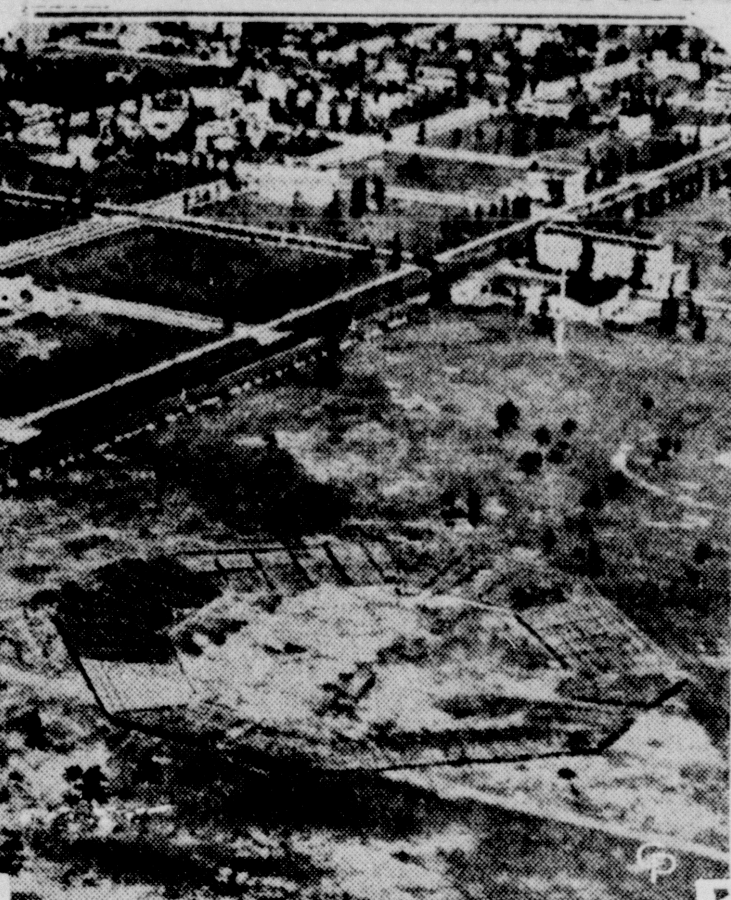

It was T. C. U.'s second 1-point win of the season from the Owls as the Frogs captured a 23 to 27 battle when the two clubs met at Houston several weeks ago. In addition it was Rice's second 1-point loss in as many nights. The S. M. U. Mustangs noosed them out 23 to 28 at Dallas Monday. Two long shots by Hastings, Rice guard, barely missed the basket in last 30 seconds, either of which would have meant a triumph over the visitors.

AUSTIN, Feb. 19.—Crumping 24 points, Capt. Holly Brook of Texas University lead the Longhorns basketball to a 57-23 triumph over the Baylor Bears here tonight in a contest marked by excessive fouling. While the Texas leader was sinking shots from all sections, Baylor had difficulty in finding the range and the team which earlier in the season had held the Orange five to a 23-19 victory, was unable to match the scoring pace set by the opponents.

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Notice
 Notice is hereby given that the city council of the city of Paris, at a called session held on the 19th day of November, 1928, passed an ordinance ordering the city en- gineer to prepare plans and speci- fications for constructing a con- crete sidewalk on the west side of North 20th street between the north boundary line of Cherry street and the south boundary line of Shiloh street, said side- walk to be four (4) inches thick and four feet wide. Pur- suant to the above resolution the city engineer presented an esti- mate at a called session of the city council held on the 27th day of November, 1928, with plans and specifications showing the cost of constructing said sidewalk also a list of property owners in said district abutting thereon, which was accepted and ap- proved by the council. SCHUMANN-HEINK MOST SIXTY-EIGHT WILL SING AGAIN

Reappears Thirty Years After
She Made Her Debut at Metropolitan

NEW YORK—Three years ago Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, almost at her sixty-fifth birthday, appeared with the Metropolitan Opera company as Erda in "Das Rheingold."

The contralto was the eldest singer, man or woman, ever to appear in opera at the Metropolitan, and it was an easily credible surmise that years might pass before another would appear who retained vigor and voice enough in the middle sixties to sing a leading role in such an exacting opera.

Now that record is about to be broken, and by Mrs. Schumann-Heink herself. On February 21, she will sing again the role of Erda in "Das Rheingold" at the Met, and March 7 she will have Erda's part in "Siegfried." This matinee of the opera stage will be 67 next June, and her coming engagements at the Metropolitan will come a full 50 years after she made her debut there, already an established star with 20 years of experience, in 1899.

Outlasts Contemporaries
"Schumann-Heink's longevity as an artist has no counterpart in contemporary music," Antonio Scotti, the baritone who is present dean of the Metropolitan company, is but 61. He came to the Met a season after Schumann-Heink joined it. Melba was but 54 when she made her last operatic appearance, and Nordica was not yet 40 when she was presented with a diamond tiara at the Metropolitan, in 1896, at the peak of her career.

Clave was only 53 when she emerged from virtual retirement to sing during the war, and in recent years she has confined herself to teaching music in southern France. Gadsdill still sings Wagnerian opera, but she is eleven years younger than Schumann-Heink.

Jean de Reske was 52 when he last sang opera here 20 odd years ago. And Lilli Lehman, oldest now in years of all the Metropolitan stars of this and former generations, made her last appearance at the Met, as Venus in "Tanhauser," at the age of 59. That incidentally, was in 1899, a couple of months after Schumann-Heink first sang there. Lilli Lehman celebrated her eightieth birthday this year at her home outside of Berlin, but she has sung little for 20 years.

Shuns Girlish Roles
"I would never sing again the role of Ortrud in 'Lohengrin,' the part I first sang at the Metropolitan," says Schumann-Heink. "I know my age, and have never sought to conceal or forget it. I would prefer to be remembered, in such youthful roles, as I was when I had more youth."

"But I can still sing some Wagnerian roles—and maybe give some singers some lessons about them." Nor will Schumann-Heink say that her forthcoming appearance at the Metropolitan may be her last in opera. If she can still sing operatic roles a year or two or five from now, she is willing to keep on singing them as long as people want to hear her.

E. G. SEUBERT MAY SUCCEED STEWART

CHICAGO, Feb. 18, (P)—A copyrighted story in today's Herald and Examiner said the newspaper had reliable information that Edward G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, would become chairman of the board, in the event Col. Robert W. Stewart is defeated for re-election March 7.

Seubert, as well as other directors, is backing Colonel Stewart in the contest for proxies being conducted by Stewart on the one hand and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on the other.

The newspaper said Mr. Rockefeller's support of Seubert would be a move to disprove statements that Rockefeller, in opposing Colonel Stewart, was seeking to cripple the Indiana company to the advantage of the Standard Oil of New York and New Jersey.

It is pointed out by the newspaper that Mr. Rockefeller wrote stockholders January 10 as follows:

"Under the loyal and devoted leadership of the president of the company, E. G. Seubert, the interests of the company will be fully protected and its business well handled without Colonel Stewart."
